Doubts and Difficulties felt in working the Recruitment Rules:-

1. The Registers of permanent and temporary vacancies are in addition to the Registers Maintained for classes of appointments. The New Register. (Appendix V. which is a combination of A and B. Statement) does not contain headings for noting particulars of pay of the vacancy and the consequential vacancy to be dealt with. The desirability of having headings for noting dates of occurrence and report of vacancy and of submission of A Statement may also be considered. The form may be revised so as to contain all information in respect of appointments brought on the Registers. The enclosed draft form may if approved, be adopted.

The form suggested may, if approved, be prescribed with the modifications indicated in pencil on the typed copy. In classifying Vacancies into general and Special, certain officers are taking into account Vacancies obtained during the previous year for purposes of classification in the current year. While ~~fr~~ making a Govt order prescribing the ~~form~~ form of the Register, it may perhaps be clearly ~~[illegible]~~ laid down for the guidance of all officers concerned that the classification of Vacancies into general and Special and the mode of filling up Vacancies ~~is~~ is by promotion or direct recruitment, have to be determined according to the order of Vacancies registered during the year in question.
